FIRE IN STEEPLES

Flames Destroy Hymn Books and a Set of Wax Figures.

INCENDIARISM IS SUSPECTED.

Father Stolte Says Conflagration Must Have Been the Work of an Insane Person -Regular Pastor Is Ill.

Mystery surrounds the fire which was covered yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the two steeples of St. John's Church, at Sixteenth and Chestnut streets, and which destroyed several thousands of ks and a set of wax figures The fire was discovered by D. N. Hogan of No. 1312 North Sixteenth street, who ing the church. He at once turned in an alarm and the fire was soon ex-tinguished. The loss on the books and the wax figures is estimated at $1,000. It is believed by the police that the fire was the work of an incendiary, as they think that both steeples could not have caught fire simultaneously.

When the fire occurred the Reverend Patrick Deoley, paster of the church, was at home convalencing from a long liness, and the news that his church was on fire proved a serious setback for him.

The Reverend B. P. Stolte, who has had charge of the church since Father Dooley's Illness, said last night that he thought it was the work of someone who was meatally unsound, as he knew of no one who could have set fire to the church with evil intent.

Two years ago Bt. John's Church was set or caught fire in the same manner, except that then only one steeple caught.

The police are looking for a clew to the guilty person.

DAY AT THE FAIR

Buildings in Search of Things "Marked Down."

UNEXPLORED SHOPPING FIELD PRAISE TERMINAL OFFICIALS.

Exhibitors Draw Trade by Announcing Price-Smashing Sale -Japanese and Filipino Wares Most Sought.

The world feminine took advantage of the first of the series of Saturday bar-gain days at the World's Fair. Thousands of women, attracted out of doors by the bright autumn day, enjoyed themselves hugely with the novelty of hunting bargains in a heretofore unexpected field of Somebody had thought that the scheme of making Saturday a bargain day, would appeal to the women and, judging from the way they hovered around the booths, arguing with salesmen and saleswomen, the idea is working wonderful results. Everywhere about the grounds Saturday the World's Fair visitor was confronted with the following sign: "Satur day, bargain day. Goods marked down." Everything from an embroidered fan in the Japanese Pavillon to a Filipino burro cart was "marked down." One could buy a collection of foreign weapons, or some ine object of Oriental workmanship at 'special rates." It was a big clearing ale, a price-smashing competition.

They came early and went into the market strong. The principal centers of the argain industry were in the Japanese bazaar and in the Philippine section, Cer-tainly these visitors from the far Pacific displayed a keep understanding of Amer-ican business "push." Doubtless they had been downtown and studied the methods in the big department stores and learned WOMEN STORM MARTS.

Most of the Japs have learned English during their stay at the Fair. So they were at no loss to convince the prospective purchaser that she couldn't possibly get along without the objects at which she may have been looking. At each booth neat little cards were tacked up indicating the reductions and the price.

The women literally took these bargain marts by storm. They swarmed in and around the booths, chattering to the salespeople, to one another, exercising all of wonderful art in making their total of cash in hand go as far as possible. Some, of course, couldn't see where the bargain was in a cloisonne vase reduced from $40 to $55; these insisted that it ought to be $2.59. That is one point on which the Japs might take a hint. They should use the figure 9 more often, for every American woman knows that an article at $2.69 or $2.99 is much more of a bargain than the same at $2.50 or $3. In the Philippines, the introduction native saleswomen proved a big drawing card. It was an alluring novelty. The card. It was an antiful acceptance in the brown people are at least active in commercial business. If they can't talk as well as the Japs, at least they can nod their heads effectively and resture expressively. They show an ability to argue in pantomine, to insist that their goods are the "best for the money," which is little short of marvelous.

ROOSEVELT MAY GO TO ISTHMUS.

Cantain Citions of Marines Departs for Capital and Possibly Panama. Capiain Clifford of the marine battalion stationed at the World's Fair, left St. Louis yesterday for Washington. After a brief stay in the national capital, it is lerstood that Captain Clifford will sail for Panama. It is said he will prepare for the arrival of President Roosevelt, who, after the election, will visit the isthmus to investigate troubled conditions there. The entire battallon of marines will remain at the Fair until some time after the close of the Exposition. Recently an or-der was issued from the War Department the site after the close of the Fair.

When President Francis learned of the order, it is said, he requested the Secretary of War to allow the full battalien to remain, with the result that the order was rescinded and the President's request granted.

A telegram from Philadelphia to the management of the Washington Hotel asks for reservation of six rooms for John Wanamaker, the famous Philadelphia merchant, and Postmaster General during the administration of President Harrison. He will arrive in St. Louis Thursday for a stay of fire days.

Falls Into Coal Hole. James Moore, 25 years old, a laborer, liv-ing at No. 1522 North Broadway, fell into a coal hole in front of No. 1514 North Third street yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the City Hospital. He sustained a frac-tured foot.

NEW RECORD IN PASSENGER TRAFFIC

Thousands of Women Throng Railroad Officials State That October's Business Exceeds All Other Months.

Extensive Developments and Improvements Made to Avoid Congestion When Freight Movement Begins.

Railway officials agree in stating tha October's passenger record exceeds all others in the history of St. Louis. Sepember was the greatest until this month. but it is generally believed that there is a wide margin in favor of October. So great has been the rush to St. Louis that many of the trains are run in two, three and

At Union Station it is estimated that an everage of 400 trains go in and out of the great shed every day, and but for the extensive improvements made prior to the Pair, congestion, and even accidents, would be frequent

As it is, nothing is heard but commendation of the Terminal officials for the excel-ient service which they are rendering. Within the last few days passenger officials have noted that while the cheaprate excursions are not so well patronized as early in the month there has been a marked increase in the number of persons traveling first class, paying full fare and using sleepers and chair cars,

This is accounted for by the supposition that persons of means preferred to wait until the closing month of the Fair, when the summer rush would be over and when they could secure hotel accommo dations with but little trouble. It is also believed that many who spend the winters in the South and Southwest will arrange to pass through St. Louis and stop off at to pass through St. Louis and stop off at the Fair.

For this reason the attendance at the Fair the latter part of next month may be more than expected, and the railreads are by no means planning to reduce their passenger equipment until December 1, when the freight departments will have to prove their ability.

The laggardness displayed by exhibitors before the opening of the Fair in getting their exhibits to the grounds will be changed to great haste in getting them away as soon as the Fair closes, and the call that will be made upon the freight departments of St. Louis lines will undoubtedly test their capacity to the utmost and prove no smail tax upon the St. Louis terminals.

The railroads have agreed that all exhibits brought to the Fair shall be returned to their point of origin free of charge if returned over the same line upon which they were sent.

While many of the exhibitors will avail themselves of this privilege, not a few will ship their exhibits to Portland, Ore, to be ready for the opening of the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

By the time the traffic connected with the World's Fair has been moved the usual heavy shipments to and through St. Louis will begin and traffic managers are of the opinion that this movement will be more than ordinarily heavy this year. At the same time but little fear of a blockade of the terminals is entertained, as within the last year large sums have been spent for facilities by which the danger of local congestion can be avoided.

By the completion of the ferry between Birby and Carondelet, many of the trains of the Iron Mountain, Cotton Belt and Missouri Pacific, which bring the largest tonnage into St. Louis, can be sent north over the Illinois division of the Iron Mountain or over the Oak Hill line, thereby avoiding the use of the Terminal altogether.

It is also expected that the Thebes bridge, being built between Illimo, Mo.

It is also expected that the Thebes bridge, being built between Ilimo, Mo., and Thebes, Ill., will be completed early next year and thereby afford another Mississippi River crossing for the Iron Mountain, Cotton Belt, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Frisco and Illinois Central.

In addition, the purchase of the Alton bridge has been consummated by ten of the St. Louis lines, affording another river crossing in the north.

TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS AMONG POORER CLASSES.

A. Hughes Will Urge Passage of Simmons Bill Before Congress.

S. A. Hughes, general immigration agen of the Frisco System, departed last night for Chicago and Cincinnati, where he will nvestigate conditions among the poore classes of working men and women for the purpose of preparing an exhaustive report for prestntation at the next session of Congress.

Mr. Hughes will urge the passage of the Simmons bill, which comes up for hearing and which provides for the removal of hundreds of thousands of poor working men and their families to the West, and placing them on either free Government land, or cheap ranch lands, to be pur-chased by the Government and given to chased by the Government and given to these people.

This bill, if it becomes a law, will do much toward relief of labor conditions in the large cities. It will bring west of the Aileghanies a part of the vast number of immigrants reaching New York every year, and provide free homes for the poorer working men on the plains of the Southwest, where they can earn a living and build for themselves a future home.

mr. Hughes believes that about 500,000 working men will be taken out of Cincinnati. Cleveland, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and St. Louis immediately, providing the bill becomes a law.

ROBBED ON EXCURSION BOATS.

Victims Say Money Was Taken From Them by Force.

Two robberies on excursion boats yesterday were reported to the police by visitors who had been fleeced by river camblers near the city. In both cases gamblers near the city. In both cases the gamblers resorted to open violence to despoil their victims.

William H, Smith of Musicogee, I. T., who is stopping at the Ohio Hotel at Thirteenth and Market streets said that he lost 50 in a pin game on the steamer Corwin Somcer. Then the gamekeeper told Smith that he had won 100, which would be paid to him if he could show 56. He displayed 555 and a general fight for possession of it resulted. Smith managed to retain his hold on the money, but in the scuffie if and a note for $2.50 were taken from his pocket. One of the gamblers stepped on Smith's hand during the fight, causing sevaral lacarations, which were dressed by the City Dispensary physicians.

which were dressed by the City Dispensive physicians.
Anderson Barrett of Lushton, Neb., staying at the Portland Hotel, Seventeenth and Market streets, reported that he had received similar treatment on the steamer City of Providence.
